THOUSANDS ARE WITHOUT HOMES

Yet In Fearfully Flooded Districts.

RUMSEY IS YET UNDER WATER

Scenes Present Wide Expanse Of Water With Only Hills Appearing.

IMPROVEMENT AT ASHBYSBURG

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 26.—Col. J. Tandy Ellis, acting Adjutant General, and Lieut. Col. Carl Norman returned to-night from Calhoun, McLean county, where they investigated the flood situation. They found between 200 and 300 refugees quarried in the town, but decided that no tents are needed.

There are more than a hundred blankets belonging to the Calhoun militia company, which Col. Ellis put at the disposal of the refugees, and 250 more will be shipped from the State arsenal Monday.

"The condition, except as to the extent of the flooded territory, is as bad as that at Hickman," said Col. Ellis, who went through the Mississippi flood work last year.

"If it turns cold the people will suffer fearfully. As the town and county are feeding the refugees from the country at Calhoun, and they are housed, no Federal aid has been given them yet, but they may need it."

"Across the river from Calhoun the little town of Rumsey with a population of about 200, is all under water, and several people are living in the second-story of a schoolhouse. The river is about five miles wide through that section, with islands dotting it, where the hills appear. The people of the lowlands with their stock are collected on these hills. In all, I should judge 2,000 or 3,000 people have been driven from their homes. Nearly all the towns around have some refugees."

"The flooded territory lies mostly to the west of Green river."

"The situation is particularly acute around the confluence of the Pond and Green. One solid sheet of water, dotted with hill tops, extends from Ashbysburg on the Hopkins-McLean line to Calhoun, and from there to the mouth of Green river the flood continues, all the lowlands being covered, and hayous reach far back from the stream."

"The water is to the second story of many country homes. The business section of Calhoun is out of the water, but the lower districts of the town are submerged and the sawmills under water."

"At Ashbysburg the refugees in tents seem to be doing as well as could be expected. The one case of smallpox discovered and isolated seems not to have infected any of the others."

"All the tributaries of the Green river are swollen and the high tide in the Ohio prevents the flood from running out. Consequently the back water is standing throughout the valley."

"We left the train at Livermore, ten miles from Calhoun, and went down in a boat. We first began to see back water between Central City and Livermore, and at the latter place the river front houses are under water. There are some refugees in the town. There are no reports of drowning or loss of stock but much of the farmers' corn is ruined."

Col. Ellis and Lieut. Norman did not go to Henderson, as they were informed no help was needed there. They stopped at West Point, but found nothing the State could do there.

Col. Ellis reported to Gov. McCreary immediately upon his arrival to-night.

Col. Ellis said this is the first flood of this extent in thirty years and the people were not prepared, but the flood was produced by currentless back water that gave them time for slight with their stock. Although he saw furniture, haystacks and corn cribs afloat, he observed only one or two houses or barns that had been moved by the water.

HE PLEADS GUILTY TO BUYING A GIRL OF 13

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 25.—Geo. Dirton, a wealthy farmer, alleged to have purchased 13-year-old Lena Hatfield from her stepmother, pleaded guilty to the charge here to-day. A few minutes later he was en route to the State prison, sentenced by Judge John Lairy to serve from 2 to 21 years in State's prison.

The little girl, who has been in St. Joseph's hospital here, was not brought to court. Mrs. Rose Hatfield, the stepmother, charged with having sold her daughter, is in jail and was to have been tried here yesterday.

Her attorney filed a motion for a change of venue to Miami county, alleging that prejudice against the accused in this county is so strong that an impartial trial would be impossible.

The motion for a change of venue was granted and the case will go to Peru, Ind.

NON-POOLERS VOTE TO HOLD THEIR TOBACCO

Madisonville, Ky., Jan. 25.—At a meeting of farmers of Hopkins county, known as the "non-poolers," resolutions were passed to hold the 1912 crop for 8 cents, the same that stemming associations are asking. The meeting was at the court house and more than 300 farmers attended and much interest was taken. Another resolution was passed that when the stemming associations and farmers' union entered a contract to sell the crop, the non-poolers will become a part of them and will dispose of their tobacco. The farmers passed a resolution to the effect that the 1912 crop must be sold in the next few days or the 1913 tobacco crop would be abandoned and not a leaf would be raised this year. It has been reported that buyers were purchasing tobacco in the county but this is denied and not a pound has been brought to this city.

BAKE DELIVERED AS PARCEL POST PACKAGE

Batavia, O., Jan. 25.—Vernon O. Lytle, mail carrier on rural route No. 5, out of this place, is the first man to accept and deliver under parcel post conditions, a baby.

The baby, a boy, weighing 10½ pounds—just within the 11-pound weight limit—is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beagle, of near Glen Este. The "package" was well wrapped and ready for "mailing" when the carrier got in to-day.

Its measurements reached 71 inches—also just within the law, which makes 72 inches the limit. Mr. Lytle delivered the "parcel" safely to the address on the card attached, that of its grandmother, Mrs. Louis Beagle, who lives about a mile from its home.

The postage was fifteen cents, and the "parcel" was insured for $50.

Important to Photograph Owners. As Mr. Edison has permitted all dealers to make a reduction on 3 and 4 minute records for an indefinite period, I will reduce the 2's to 21c and the 4's to 31c. You had better hurry and lay in a supply, as you may never have this chance again. The old price was 35c. for 2's and 50c. for 4's. I have a big stock to pick from.

KILLED THIRTY APACHES ALMOST SINGLE-HANDED

San Bernardino, Cal., Jan. 25.—Stewart Wall, who fought a battle almost single-handed against Apache Indians in 1864 and killed thirty braves before he fell with fourteen bullets in his own body, died here to-day. Wall, who was 81 years old, came to California in 1851, and was the first Town Marshal of San Bernardino.

FOUND GUILTY OF BRUTAL MURDERS

And Sentenced To Life Imprisonment.

A MODERN BORGIA OF INDIANA

Convicted of Poisoning One White Slave and Strangling Another.

WILD FURY WHEN CORNERED

(The first account of this horror is found on third page of The Herald to-day.)

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 24.—Nellie Mills, Evansville's modern "Borgia," charged with strangling Jessie McCune, to-night was found guilty of murder in the first degree, and given a life term in the penitentiary. The jury was out an hour and took but two ballots.

The resort keeper, who the evidence showed killed two 16-year-old girls within the space of a week to cover up white slave operations, heard the verdict read without a sign of emotion. As the jury filed in, facing her, at 8 o'clock, but with their eyes averted, the woman read her doom in their faces. She stiffened a trifle in her chair, but made no outcry nor moved a muscle when foreman Gerard read the verdict.

Ten minutes later, after she had been locked up in her cell again, the woman broke down and began to weep and cry out hysterically. The convicted woman, according to the story she told when put on the witness stand in her own defense to-day, is 23 years old. She maintained that she is innocent.

She was born in Madisonville, Ky., and lived for a time in Henderson.

In her examination in chief to-day the Mills woman denied all complicity in the murder of either Eunie Gray or Jessie McCune, and seemed to make a fair witness for herself. But when the prosecuting Attorney began his cross-examination, the tiger in her came to the surface. Her face set hard and fast as she shot back angry replies to him. She displayed such a fierceness of temper that even her lawyer was amazed at her conduct.

The Prosecutor secured from the Mills girl the direct statement that she had seen Eunie Gray drink poison and had made no effort to prevent it, but the defendant would not acknowledge fixing the poisoned glass, as Elsie Ligon had testified.

She was led to tell of the details of her visit to the side of Eunie Gray as the latter lay dying. The defendant denied that she had told Elsie Ligon after leaving Eunie Gray's bedside that she just killed Jessie McCune because Jessie knew of the poisoned drink.

The events of the next few hours, involving the evening in the resort, were recounted by the witness. She admitted that she was with William Fullerton, of Pembroke, Ky., and said that she left him to go into Jessie McCune's room to sleep, as Fullerton was asleep.

Here, the State's Attorney tripped her. In her direct testimony the witness had said that she did not leave her room and go into that of the murdered girl until William Fullerton was preparing to leave the house. The witness blazed up with fury at this trap and her reply to his question "why did you leave your room and go to Jessie's room to sleep when Fullerton was vacating your room," brought forth the angry reply, "How should I know?"

A second time the witness was mixed up when her own testimony before the grand jury, about the scratches on her hands, was quoted to disprove her statement to the trial jury.

The Prosecutor proved by the grand jury minutes, that both her hands were scratched, presumably in the struggle when she strangled Jessie McCune. The witness contended she had but one slight scratch made by a pin in her dress. The trial to-day was attended by all who could find seats, several bringing their lunches and staying in the court room during the noon recess in order to hold their seats. As on yesterday, hundreds were unable to gain admission to the hearing. The convicted woman to-night refused to talk and begged the jailer to let no one see her. She has no living relatives, she said.

TALKS AND STILL DENIES KILLING JESSIE McCUNE

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 27.—"I am innocent and I hope I will live long enough to find out the truth and some day know who did kill Jessie McCune," was the single sentence which has passed the lips of Nellie Mills since her conviction Friday for murder. This was her statement made Saturday to Judge D. C. Givens in Circuit Court when he ordered her brought before him for sentence.

Unknown persons sent delicacies to the woman at the jail. She was taken to prison to-day.

Tobacco Sale Ratified.

There was a large crowd of farmers and tobacco growers in Hartford Monday to attend a meeting to consider the tobacco situation. The court house was crowded to its full capacity with interested growers. The sale of the A. S. of E. tobacco pool at the same price obtained for the Green River Association pool (which was $9, $5 and $3) was ratified, provided the other counties besides Ohio do the same thing. Much talk was indulged in and it was a very interesting meeting.

BOOTLEGGERS GIVEN FREEDOM BY MARSHAL

Ten federal prisoners were released from the Daviess county jail Thursday morning by Deputy United States Marshal Nichols, having had lines and sentence imposed on them at the November term of court by Judge Evans for "bootlegging." All the defendants were fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail, but under the law they are allowed their freedom after taking the insolvent debtor oath that they have no property subject to execution.

The following are the persons released: Joe Jamison, Jeannette Talbott, John Moss, George Smith, Clarence Nash, Dodie Harris, Ed Armstrong, Ed Smith, William Jackson and Mary Belle Wilkins.

Jeannette Talbott, Wm. Jackson and Mary Belle Wilkins, all colored, reside in Owensboro. Clarence Nash at Madisonville, Jamison at Earlington, Geo. and Ed Smith at Central City, Moss at Henderson, Harris at Providence, and Armstrong at Norton's Gap.

STOLE POSTAGE STAMPS—GREAT FRAUDS FOUND

Washington, Jan. 25.—Enormous frauds against the Government through the illegal trafficking in stolen postage stamps have been unearthed by post-office inspectors. Reports received to-day by Postmaster General Hitchcock show that the frauds have been conducted on so tremendous a scale that they involve at least $2,000,000 annually.

Indictments already have been returned against stamp brokers in New York, Chicago and other large cities. Confessions received by the inspectors from some of the men they have investigated are said to indicate that the ramifications of the frauds extend throughout the country.

SEVEN SCOUTS KILLED IN A FIERCE BATTLE

Manila, Jan. 27.—A wireless dispatch from Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing, Commanding the Department of Mindanao, gives details of an engagement on the morning of January 23 at Taglibet between Moros and detachments of Philippine scouts and the constabulary.

Capt. Patrick McNally and six enlisted men of the scouts were killed. Lieut. William Townsend of the scouts, and Lieut. Cochran, Lieut. Whitney, of the constabulary, and nineteen enlisted men were wounded. The wounds of both Townsend and Cochran are serious.

ERADICATION OF THE HOOK-WORM

From the State Is Very Important Matter.

CURE IS ENTIRELY POSSIBLE

Symptoms Are Sometimes So Slight They Are Hardly Discernible.

A MATTER OF INTEREST TO ALL

In a recent issue of the Winchester Democrat, Dr. I. A. Shirley, of the State Board of Health, who attended the Conference of Sanitary Workers in the Southern States at Little Rock, Arkansas, recently, gives the following facts which are of interest to the people all over Kentucky:

1st. It is the firm belief of every one engaged in the work of improving sanitary conditions in the South so as to make it possible to prevent disease and make life longer and healthier, from the Administrative Sanitary Secretary in Washington to the field men on the firing line, that no greater work has ever been undertaken since that of the meek and lowly Galilean.

2d. The eradication of the hookworm disease and not amelioration is not only possible but that nothing short of this will suffice the efforts of the workers.

3d. The same story came from all parts of the Southland of well-nigh miraculous cures.

4th. The belief, born of experience, that no other disease holds its unfortunate victim so long as hookworm disease; that no other disease makes the one afflicted with it for such a length of time a menace to those around him; that no other disease of equal magnitude is so surely and speedily curable.

5th. That no other disease shows such a variety of symptoms and sometimes no symptoms at all, as hookworm disease.

6th. That while as a rule it is to be found where the sanitary conditions are the worst, that is, where the privies are not water-tight and fly-proof, yet it is found under better surroundings sufficiently often to make it the imperative duty of every one, who leaves ideal environments for even a short time to seek examination lest the monster disease, like a thief in the night, steals a march upon him, to be diagnosed before it may be everlastingly too late.

7th. Hookworm carries, persons harboring very few worms and positively without symptoms, except, occasionally, indigestion, are among the most dangerous members of the community as propagators; hence the duty that everybody owes to themselves and the community to be absolutely certain that they are free from these worms.

8th. That from the examination of more than 30,000 people from 118 counties, our own beloved State is found to be one of the most heavily infected, and we earnestly hope for such a co-operation of our fighting facilities, county, municipal and individual, that ere long it can be truthfully said that Kentucky, the flower of the "constellation of Southern States, is for one, at least, free from this blighting curse.

9th. That every citizen who has not already done so, should secure a copy of the Bulletin of the State Board of Health from its office in Bowling Green, telling about this disease and should submit the necessary specimens so they can know whether they have it or not.

URGE FRUIT GROWING INSTEAD OF TOBACCO

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 25.—In his welcome address here to delegates to a meeting of the Kentucky Horticultural Society, State Sen. Starling L. Marshall declared that Kentucky, and especially Henderson county, was cursed with too much tobacco growing. He said that the salvation of the farmer was the growing of fruit and the discontinuance of the raising of tobacco.

President R. M. Cunningham, of Louisville, in his response agreed with Senator Marshall, and urged that the fruit growers get busy and start a propaganda. He went over the past work in brief review and said that there was no danger of overproduction of the fruit crop.

WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND DURING FAMILY QUARREL

Lake Providence, La., Jan. 25.—Dr. James Fleet Booth, a physician, was shot and killed by Mrs. Booth to-day in a sanitarium owned by Booth shortly after they had breakfasted together. The killing is said to have resulted from a quarrel. Mrs. Booth immediately surrendered to the authorities.

The cause of the quarrel is not known, as Mrs. Booth has so far made no statement.

Mrs. Booth was Miss Clarice Nelson, of Jackson, Miss., where she met and married the doctor about one year ago. Dr. Booth is survived by two children by his first wife and a brother, Dr. George Booth, of Lake Village, Ark.

BEAVER DAM.

Jan. 27.—The reduction sale at the general store of E. P. Barnes & Bro., together with the continued wet weather caused our streets to be crowded the past week and trade in all lines was good. One of the salesmen of that firm, Mr. W. R. Cook, has a political bee in his bonnet and you will hear from him soon.

We noticed in The Herald last week the death of Mr. C. C. Ambrose, which occurred in Owensboro. Mr. Ambrose was a native of Ohio county and entered the Confederate army early in '61 with Dr. J. E. Pendleton's company. He served throughout the war and was one of the Kentucky boys of that company who surrendered after participating in the last battle fought east of the Mississippi river.

Mr. Tim Taylor, of Stanford, Ill., and Mr. Morton Williams and wife, of Daniel Boone, Ky., were visitors in the home of Mr. J. D. Williams last week.

Messrs. H. D. and Fred Taylor, of Princeton, Ky., were in town a day last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Short and little son, of North Cumberland, W. Va., were visiting Mrs. Short's father, Mr. John Waddle, last week.

Miss Myrl Miller, city, and Miss Elsie Taylor, of Union neighborhood, visited friends in Central City last week.

John F. Coffman Dead.

Mr. John F. Coffman, who lived near Point Pleasant, this county, was found dead in the public road near his home late Tuesday evening of last week. He and his cousin, John M. Coffman, were returning home from Island, McLean county. The deceased complained to his cousin of feeling ill, so much so that he volunteered to accompany him home but John said it was only a short distance and he could go alone. He had gone but a short distance, however, until he fell and was found lying with his face in a small pool of water on the side of the road dead.

He was found by Messrs. W. F. Coffman, Ernie Bell, J. P. Tichenor and V. C. Jones, who were returning home from Livermore. The body was picked up and taken to a neighbor's house and a physician called but life was extinct before the physician arrived.

Mr. Coffman, who was 23 years old, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Coffman, Matanzas, and was married to Miss Myrtle Southard, and to this union was born a little girl.

Funeral services and interment took place at Point Pleasant Wednesday afternoon. The parents and companion have the sincerest sympathy of every one in their sad bereavement.

Tribute to Warden Mudd.

Warden Ed Mudd, of the Frankfort penitentiary, died Wednesday after a long illness. To Warden Mudd more than to any one man belongs the credit for instituting the practical reforms for handling convicts within the past few years. He abolished stripe uniform, and lockstep and established a morale in the institution which had never before been equaled. His death is a severe loss to Kentucky, and his place will be hard to fill.—[Interior Journal.]

HOW IT FEELS TO BE IN A BALLOON

And Over Four Miles Up
In the Air.

ALSO IN A LIGHTNING STORM

When Air Craft Surged Up And Down Through the Blinding Flashes.

VERY THRILLING NARRATIVE

In the February American Magazine Augustus Post, writing the "Experiences of an Airman," tells as follows how it feels to be up in the air four miles in a balloon:

"Mr. Harmon and I made the American record, 48 hours and 26 minutes, or more than two days in the air. I must turn aside to speak of this trip, for on this occasion we had sailed all over the Central West, Arkansas, Indian Territory and the 'Horn' Dawg State, as anyone would recognize who had occasion to learn how far the real animal's voice can penetrate, especially upward to a balloon high above the clouds. During this trip Mr. Harmon and I reached very great altitudes. We established the American record for altitude, and reached a point considerably over four miles above the surface of the earth. Our instruments registering 24,000 feet according to our measurements. At this great height our sensations were of a different nature from anything ever experienced on earth. The air is very rare, only about one half the density of that on the surface of the earth, and consequently you feel a great relief of pressure, and while flying still, as is necessary in a balloon-basket, you feel light as a feather, and as if you had no body at all. Your breathing is almost twice as rapid as on the earth, for you must get double the volume of air for an amount of oxygen equal to what you are accustomed to. Of course, if you did any physical work such as mountain-climbing do, you would soon be completely exhausted. You sit like a majestic condor peacefully in your basket, looking about and gazing down below on the great round earth stretched far beneath you, hazy and dim. Sometimes hardly distinguishable for the thin stratum of cirrus clouds which at different elevations slightly veil the distinctness of the far-stretching earth below.

"Below you, when the mists and 'liberty mists' that veil the face of the earth thin away, you could see at this great height, not the mere seven miles that is all the curvature of the earth would let you see at its surface, but more than three hundred miles in every direction; or, to make the picture more clear, you could see all of the Middle States, or all of the country between New York and Cleveland, and it would look almost exactly like those great maps on the walls of the new Pennsylvania station in New York City.

"After supper was over and our things stowed away, we noticed what seemed to be occasional flashes of heat-lightning far off on the horizon, but we thought little of it. Soon these became frequent, and we saw that a storm was gathering, but, as it was far to one side of the direction in which we were going, we thought it would pass around us. However, we began to hear the rumble of thunder and knew that the tempest was bearing. The air grew chill, and before we could realize what was happening the balloon, pitching and yawing, was sucked into a mighty vortex where, amidst the deafening roar of the thunder and the lightning's vivid glare, surging and swinging and spinning around and around, the balloon shot right up into the very heart of a cyclone. Every flash of lightning blinded us, and each clap of thunder felt like the blow of a mighty hammer on the side of the ear. We had to hold to the edge of the basket to keep from being hurled out. The balloon, bounding and tossing, rose and fell thousands of feet with frightful rapidity in the whirl of the maelstrom.

"We rose thirteen thousand feet, over two miles, and then cast out ballast to try to ride above the storm, but it was impossible. We lost all control of the balloon—usually so amenable to guidance. It was now like a chip in the gorge of Niagara. Its upward rush was like those of a rocket, through a darkness black as ink, changing now and again to a blinding glare as the lightning, more vivid than we had ever seen, turned night into a strange and lurid day. For we were not watching the lightning from afar as one does on the earth, where it is like a light seen through a window—we were inside of it, enveloped in its blinding glow.

"Through a rift in the clouds we caught sight of the earth far below, and saw that we were dashing downward with such violence that it seemed as if the ground were rushing up at us. We saw too that the basket was going to strike. Just as the shock came we pulled the valve-rope, and the huge balloon, started on a mad dash across the fields, dragging us with terrific speed after it. I crawled out into the concentrating ring at the risk of falling out on the ground or of getting my legs caught under the basket. Grasping the rip-cord, I pulled it with all my might. It slipped through my fingers, and tore off a ring I was wearing, taking the flesh with it. Just then my companion, Mr. Harmon, nearly fell out, and pulling him in, we crouched in the bottom of the basket.

"The balloon dashed on, crashing right through two barbed-wire fences, tearing down two telegraph lines, smashing a telephone pole to splinters, bounding on into a patch of woods, over a farmhouse, and landing in a cornfield fully two miles from where it first struck the ground.

"We made up our minds then and there that the next time we were in a balloon, and saw a cyclone coming, we would come down.

"There is an interesting sequel to this adventure, which shows that the unexpected sometimes happens, and that some of the Arabian Nights' Tales may be founded on fact. Some time afterward Mr. Harmon received a letter from the farmer who lived near where this occurred, saying that while plowing in his field he had found a ring, and asking if we had either of us lost one. We told him that one of us had, he sent it on, and so I have my seal-ring again as a unique souvenir of this experience."

THE COST OF INSANITY IN THE UNITED STATES

It has been computed that it costs us more to care for our insane each year than the annual expense of the Executive, Legislative and Federal departments of our Government.

Thirty-two millions of dollars is the actual cost of caring for the insane in our various public institutions in the United States. It does not cost quite as much as that each year to carry on the construction of the Panama Canal, and yet this $32,000,000 is only a small part of the actual cost of our insane. The total cost has been estimated at $164,000,000.

The manner in which this astonishing amount is calculated is on the worth of each adult between the ages of 18 and 45. Long ago it was carefully ascertained that the average value to the community of the normal adult between the ages 18 and 45 was $700 per year.

Counting the number of people who have been withdrawn from the community because of insanity, people of the seven-hundred-dollar-per-annum value, the loss is $32,000,000. This, with the actual cost of caring for the insane, brings the total up to the $164,000,000 mark.

The first cost means a per capita cost of about 33 1-3 cents for us, or that everyone in this country, if the cost were evenly divided, would have to pay 33 1-3 cents each year for the care of the insane. The total cost of this is more than the entire value of the wheat, corn, tobacco and dairy and beef products exported each year from this country. (New York American.)

Here is a remedy that will cure your cold. Why waste time and money experimenting when you can get a preparation that has won a world-wide reputation by its cures of this disease and can always be depended upon? It is known everywhere as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and is a medicine of real merit. For sale by all dealers.

A Modern Supposition.

"Frederick," said the Sunday-School teacher, "how many years did Methuselah live?"

Frederick looked nonplussed.

"But see," she admonished, "here is this list I asked you to memorize. Methuselah: 969."

"Oh," said Frederick deprecatingly, "is that what it means? I supposed that was his telephone number!" (February Woman's Home Companion.)

If your children are subject to attacks of croup, watch for the first symptom, hoarseness. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse and the attack may be warded off. For sale by all dealers.

EQUITY TOBACCO HAS BEEN SOLD

At Prices of $9 to $5 for Leaf and Lugs.

THREE DOLLARS FOR TRASH

Imperial Gets a Big Slice—Gallaher Was Not One Of Purchasers.

FAITHFUL SALES COMMITTEE

The Owensboro Messenger of Friday says:

The sales committee of the Equity Home Warehouse Company announced Thursday afternoon that a deal had been closed whereby practically all of the tobacco pooled with that organization had been sold at prices ranging from $9 to $5 per hundred pounds for the leaf and lugs and $3 for the trash.

The American Tobacco company has agreed to take 4,000,000 pounds of the pooled crop, and it is understood that the Imperial Company will take about 3,000,000 pounds. The remainder of the pool will be sold to other local buyers.

A surprise will be created in tobacco circles when it is known that the Gallaher Limited, which last year purchased the greater part of the Equity tobacco, has not bought a pound of the present crop. It has been frequently announced that the Gallaher would take the Equity tobacco, but, so far, the company has not bought any part of it. The Gallaher is buying a great deal of the weed that is being sold on the loose leaf floor.

Before the sale consummated Thursday becomes effective it will be necessary for the action of the sales committee to be ratified by the poolers of Daviess, Hancock, McLean and Ohio counties.

There will be a meeting of the poolers of Daviess county held at the court house in Owensboro at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the purpose of accepting or rejecting the sale.

On the same date and hour meetings will be held by the poolers in the Whitesville and Reed neighborhoods to take action on the sale.

The graders for Daviess county will be selected at the meetings to be held on Saturday.

All of the other meetings will be held at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, January 27. The places of meeting follow:

Ohio county—Hartford.
Hancock county—Lewisport and Hawesville.

McLean county—Buel, Calhoun, Faith, Cleopatra, Beech Grove, Island, Sacramento and Livermore.

It was also announced that about 400,000 pounds of Burley tobacco had been sold to W. E. Whitely, of Owensboro. The poolers will have two options on the price. The first offer is $14 down for leaf and lugs, to be graded, and $5 for all trash, or $10 for leaf and lugs, and $5 for trash.

If the sale is ratified, which it is believed it will be, the deliveries will begin the latter part of next week. The sales committee has been in session at various times for the past two months, endeavoring to reach a satisfactory agreement. The members fought hard for a higher price for the tobacco, but the buyers insisted that this year's crop is inferior to that of last year, and declined to go above $9 for the best grade of leaf.

The members of the sales committee are Price Baird, H. K. Kirtley, J. B. Holland, Emmon Shaw, E. C. Bluff and L. N. Robertson, and they stated that they had worked hard and faithfully for several weeks in an effort to bring a sale, and that now it is up to the poolers.

When you want a reliable medicine for a cough or cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

The February Woman's Home Companion.

An article of great interest and value to women is published in the February Woman's Home Companion. It is an account of the Housewives' League, an organization of 500,000 women, which, in two years, has developed to the point it is actually assisting hundreds of thousands of housewives in the United States to reduce the cost of living. One of its great contentions is that women should study the market reports in the newspapers in order to get information about prices which will enable them to buy intelligently when they come to deal with traders. The article shows how the plan may be carried out in any town or city in the United States. It also presents a dramatic picture of the origin of the League. Mrs. Julian Heath, a New York woman, had an experience which started her to thinking. Out of this experience grew the League. Here is a story of a woman who started great things.

Many other important articles are included in the February Companion—notably, an interview with John Drew, "What I Think of Women," "The Making of a Father"—a true story, "The Upward Fight"—true stories of work, love and sacrifice in the "slums," and an article showing how a widow woman with $100 capital started a business from which she is able to earn a good income.

Lively fiction is contributed by Georgia Wood Pangborn, Mary Hastings Bradley, Apple Hamilton Donnell, Justus Miles Forman and Fannie Heaslip Lea.

SHORT WEEK'S WORK OF OUR DAUDLING SCHOOLS

That the United States has a shorter school day, a shorter school week and a shorter school year than any other highly civilized nation, is pointed out in a bulletin of the Russell Sage Foundation.

The district school idea still hangs over the great educational system of the United States, with its 10,000,000 pupils and its $500,000,000 of yearly expenditure. In the Little Red School-House, birthplace of so much that is good and great, hours were short so that pupils might travel long distances and have time to do the chores. The legal school year was made, in New York, only twenty-eight weeks so that the big boys might have time to work in the fields. Saturday was a holiday for the same reason.

In cities where rural precedents are meaningless the Saturday holiday is continued, an absurdly long summer vacation is allowed, and term vacations and holidays are generous. The result of dawdling is either to put the American student about two years behind his German or French confrere or to leave disastrous gaps in his preparation for life.

It is a strange thing that the United States, which prides itself upon its efficiency and upon its schools, should not have brought the two closer together. (New York World.)

KIND OF COOK WANTED PROVED OTHERWISE

In the February American Magazine James Montgomery Flagg, the famous wit and artist, writes and illustrates an amusing article about the adventures of a man named Billy who set out to hire a cook. Following is an extract showing one of Billy's experiences at an employment agency:

Billy was trying to describe the sort of a cook he wanted, and he suddenly grasped the agent by the wrist and pointed rudely.

"There! the one with the black hat with the white feather duster on it! She looks like what I'd prefer to have around the house; bring her over; let me talk to her."

"She's looking for a maid herself," smiles the agent. "That is Miss Vera Lipsalve, of the Winter Garden!"

SORROWING FRIENDS ATTEND

The Funeral and Hundreds View Remains of Unfortunate Lad.

GENERAL RESPECT WAS PAID

Bowling Green, Ky., Jan. 23.—When the L. & N. train rolled into the depot at 6:05 o'clock last night, on which was the body of Lester Bryant, fully 250 people were at the station, so great was the interest and feeling of the public regarding the untimely death of Warren's little champion. A delegation of 100 persons from Rockfield was here to meet the body. With the body from Washington came J. H. Arnold, of the Agricultural Department, Commissioner of Agriculture of Kentucky J. W. Newman and James Speed, representing the Louisville Commercial Club, met the funeral train at Louisville and joined Mr. Arnold on his sad mission here. At Glasgow Junction, Dr. Fred Mutchler boarded the train. As the casket was lifted from the train and conducted to the nearby funeral car, the spectators bared and bowed their heads in silence.

Slowly and silently the cortege moved up Main street, followed by the Rockfield delegation and many Bowling Green citizens. For an hour the body lay in state, and perhaps more than 300 people looked upon the features of the lad who so joyously left Bowling Green on last Saturday morning in anticipation of the many pleasures before him. The body lay in a beautiful white plush casket. The plate was of solid silver, bearing the following inscription: "Lester Bryant, Champion Corn Grower." The handles were of white plush, trimmed in silver. With the casket came a large, beautiful floral offering from the United States Agricultural Department at Washington and the banner young Bryant was to have carried in the parade. The casket was started on its way to the boy's home near Rockfield at 7 o'clock last night.

The father of the boy, W. M. Bryant, is almost prostrated with grief, and is under the care of a physician. The mother, though bowed in deep grief, has been bearing up well during the hours of her awful affliction. Kind friends have constantly ministered to their wants since the sad and terrible news was first broken to them.

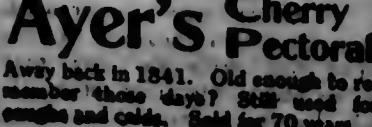

The funeral was held this morning at 10 o'clock, the sermon being preached by the Rev. T. M. Daces, of Auburn. The pallbearers were six schoolmates and lifelong companions of Bryant—Hubert Truitt, John Johnson, David Hall, Thomas Gaines, Mack Woodward and Chalmers Lambertson.

A Hero in a Lighthouse.

For years J. S. Donahue, South Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself. If Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so-called cures for years, without benefit and they also improved my sight." Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine. For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're without equal. Try them. Only 50 cents at James H. Williams, Hartford.

MURDERED TWO GIRLS IN ORDER

To Destroy Evidences Of White Slave Traffic,

IS CHARGE BROUGHT AGAINST

Indiana Keeper of Immoral
Resort—Strangled One
Of the Victims.

POISON USED ON OTHER GIRL

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 22.—Poison and strangulation were the methods used by Nellie Mills, who was placed on trial to-day for the murder of Eunie Gray and Jesse McCune, two sixteen-year-old companions, according to evidence presented to the Court this afternoon.

Charged in an indictment with strangling Jesse McCune by shoving a handkerchief down her throat, Nellie Mills, who is only 24 years old, pleaded guilty when the trial was opened to-day. Prosecutor Hardy filed a written motion with the Court to nolle the indictments against Elsie Ligon and William Fullerton, the latter a farmer of Pembroke, Ky., charging them with complicity in Jesse McCune's death.

The prosecution said that these two would testify for the state. Judge Givens nolle the two indictments, but held the couple under bond as witnesses.

It was established by testimony of the police and Coroner that Jesse McCune was lured from her home in Lima, Ohio, to Evansville by a white slaver, supposedly at the expense of Nellie Mills.

Preceding the arrival in Evansville of Jesse McCune, a white slave runner is said to have brought Eunie Gray to the place run by Nellie Mills.

A week before Jesse McCune was strangled, Eunie Gray died, but no intimation of foul play was made at that time.

To-day, through the confession made by Elsie Ligon, after she had secured immunity, and by the evidence of Dr. J. M. Heberer, it was charged that Nellie Mills administered poison to Eunie Gray. Dr. Heberer testified that the girl died from poison.

Elsie Ligon confessed that Nellie Mills had given Miss Gray poison by switching drinking glasses, and that the police were making an investigation, and Nellie Mills wanted to destroy evidence of her complicity in the white slave traffic.

The defendant drew her veil down over her face when Dr. Heberer gave his testimony, and appeared to be on the verge of a collapse.

It is said that Elsie Ligon will testify that Eunie Gray, when dying her death, and that Jesse McCune heard her death, and that Jesse McCune overheard the charges. To destroy evidence of the first murder, according to Elsie Ligon, Nellie Mills then strangled Jesse McCune.

Witness Testifies.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 23.—More than 500 people were denied admission to-day to the trial of Nellie Mills on trial for the murder of Jesse McCune. The State rested after the sensational evidence of Elsie Ligon.

The Ligon girl declared this afternoon that the Mills woman admitted to her that she gave poison to Eunie Gray. She declared on the stand that the defendant told her that Jesse McCune knew she had administered the poison and that she was going to kill her. The next morning the McCune girl was found dead.

"Did you kill Jesse McCune?" the witnesses testified she asked the Mills woman.

"Yes, I killed her and I will kill you if you ever tell it," was the answer the witness said she received.

AN UNLUCKY YEAR FOR SOME CERTAIN THINGS

The year 1913 will prove an unlucky one for all cowards, cheats, sneaks, idlers and wasters.

If you neglect your responsibility you'll pay the penalty of inefficiency.

If you squander your hours and your powers; indulge in excesses, deny your body insufficient sleep, exercise and care, you'll lose your strength and health.

If you lie, betray trust and break your word, your name will be smirched with disgrace.

If you make no effort to improve your position or broaden your mind, a more earnest and eager and deserving man will dispossess you from your job.

But 1913 will be a happy, wonderful, treasure-laden, prosperous year for all who strive keenly and cleanly.

Bad luck is a matter of character—not of calendar. Superstition is ludicrous by the light of electricity. All the wicked spirits are in the grogshop. The evil eye is watching from the front row at the musical comedy.

"Good" and "bad" are mental attitudes. We are great and stalwart or puny and miserable because it is our will to be so. Our souls mold our careers.—[Freeport (Ill.) Standard.]

THE COMPULSORY EDUCATION

Law is Working Well—Supt. Hamlett Makes Report To Federal Bureau.

STATE IS EXAMPLE FOR SOUTH

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 24.—An increased enrollment of more than 15,000 among white pupils in the rural schools, an increase of 40,913 in the daily average attendance, and an average increase in the salaries of teachers of $26, are some of the results of the enforcement of the compulsory education law, coupled with the law, basing the salaries of teachers on the percentage of enrollment and attendance as well as efficiency, according to a report made by the Kentucky Department of Education to the Federal Educational Bureau. These statistics deal only with conditions in the white rural schools. The report to the Legislature was anticipated in this regard at the request of the Federal department.

The white enrollment for the school year 1911-12 was 400,613, as compared with 335,607 for the preceding year.

The average daily attendance was 241,939, as compared with 201,028 the preceding year.

The average salary of rural teachers was $290, as compared with $264 the preceding year.

There was expended on the schools for the year $4,465,642.22, an increase of $373,949.34; and local taxes raised aggregated $1,991,767.97, an increase of $185,883.30.

Under the present law the teachers have been personally interested in increasing and holding the attendance, and co-operation between teachers and trustees, Superintendent Hamlett said, has been noticeably improving, a condition which is expected to be fostered by the "trustees' round table" to be established in connection with the Kentucky Educational Association at its meeting in Louisville April 30.

On January 28 both the State Normal Schools will start a ten-weeks' course for county rural school supervisors, and the course will be extended to three years.

Prof. Coates will take charge of the course at Bowling Green for the first five weeks and then will go to Richmond.

Besides the regular professional subjects, this course will include such practical problems as the function of the rural school, what constitutes a first-class rural school, as to environment, yard, buildings, equipment, supplies, organization, teacher, grading, etc., management and discipline for making citizens, school entertainments and exhibitions, development centers and demonstration schools, school laws and legislation with respect to the work of superintendents, work, methods, reports, attitude, pitfalls, etc., of supervisors; school visitation by groups of teachers, course of study; plays and games, retardation, valuation and selection of books from rural school libraries, consolidation, problems of the two or more teachers' non-consolidated schools.

While this work of supervision is being perfected the State Department experts are working on a program of standardization of rural schools, intending eventually to evolve a standard, to which a rural school must attain in order to be a good school, and a superior standard, which is designed to represent what a rural school should be. This program has not been worked out, but will be in time to put it in practice during the 1913-14 school year.

Mrs. A. R. Tabor, of Crider, Mo., had been troubled with sick headache for about five years, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. She has taken two bottles of them and they have cured her. Paint Your Boxes White. The Post-Office Department has sent out an order requesting that all patrons of the rural routes paint their boxes white and place their names on the same in black letters about two inches high. This order has been issued to every postmaster where there is a rural route. This is done in order that all the receptacles for the mail of Uncle Sam will be uniform. It is also suggested that the posts on which the boxes are located be painted and straightened up.

QUEER MARRIAGE MIX-UP THAT CAUSED TROUBLE

The editor of one of our exchanges tells an amusing story of a typographical mistake in connection with a marriage notice which came in his experience. The story runs thus: The bridegroom was a man by the name of Gunn, whose father, Abraham Gunn, was a leading citizen. The editor wanted to give the young couple a good send-off but turned in the copy and trusted to a drunken printer and a drunken proofreader to see that it got into the paper all right. The next morning he read the announcement, headed "Gunsmith." The girl's name was Smith. The notice went on to say that the blushing bride was becoming arrayed in a dress of "white mule" instead of "white mull," and that she carried a large red "nose." The copy said "rose." He had written in regard to the groom that he was "the well-liked son of A. Gunn." The compositor set it up "the wall-eyed son-of-a-gun."

The editor fired both the compositor and the proofreader, but just the same he was never able to square it with either the bride or the groom, or old man Gunn.

They are now after the Bat's Tob Trust. It ought to be turned up side down.

President-elect Wilson seems to think that the best way to construct a cabinet is to "saw wood."

A million dollars in gold weighs 2,655 pounds. We never weighed our pocket change to find out, but just heard that such is the case.

As long as political gatherings are more largely attended in Kentucky than farmers' meetings, just so long will our agricultural interests suffer.

Democratic candidates for county offices are now coming forth in goodly numbers. They are all fine men, abundantly qualified for the offices which they seek. May the best man win in every case!

The editor of the Lexington Herald—having tried it at home before submitting it to the public, he says—has a new recipe for stirring up a woman's dignity. Just tell her that her hair doesn't match.

An exchange gives an account of a man who met with misfortune because "he had booze in his profession." Of course it was a typographical error—aiming to say
"possession"—but a case frequently turns out just that way.

President-elect Wilson is employing his spare time nowadays with a guide-book of the city of Washington, he having not visited the place in recent years. He will in all probability, however, meet a lot of "confidence" men—of a certain kind.

On the principle that each should favor the other, candidates for office are usually expected to patronize the printing office which fights their political battles when they have any job work to be done. This is only fair and proper. It would be poor encouragement for a newspaper to see a candidate of its party do otherwise.

Col. J. R. Lemon, editor of the Mayfield Messenger, has been appointed by Gov. McCreary as a delegate to represent the State of Kentucky at a meeting of the Southern National Highway Association to be held at Asheville, N.
C., February 12. A nice honor, worthily bestowed. We hope Col.
Lemon will be able to do something for some of the highways of Kentucky.

"A public official has no right to discharge political obligations at the expense of the public," says Mr. Bryan, in regard to the appointment of men to office. And he is right about it. Too often has it been the case that men were appointed to office merely to pay a political debt and without any special regard to their fitness for the place.
Then it is the public that suffers from the mistake. This is the bane of politics, but under the watchful eyes of the newspapers it is coming to be less practiced than formerly.

A very commendable project set on foot by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of New York, is a Bureau of Social Hygiene, for the amelioration of the white slave traffic and remedy of the social evil. Under Mr. Rockefeller's direction a permanent organization has been perfected for rescue of unfortunate girls and women from the damning life of the underworld. The movement deserves the hearty support of Christians of every denomination and of right thinking people everywhere. It is an important matter of deep human interest.

There are many farm products
besides tobacco which the farmer could raise with profit and not be subjected to the yearly anxiety of sale of same. There are poultry, fruit, vegetables, hogs, cereals, hlooded or even common stock, and the various varieties of stock feed, which always find a ready market,
and it does not take a year (like it does tobacco) to produce any of these for market. Frequently farmers come to town and buy the very provisions which they ought to be selling to the grocerman.
Something wrong about this. Tobacco is a rather unstable product for a regular livelihood.

A trade report from the New York financial district says: "Nearly all security holders are now convinced that the stock market will have discounted any possible bad effects of Democratic rule by the time Mr. Wilson is inaugurated." Why certainly! Why not? What should there be in Mr. Wilson's coming into the Presidency to alarm business circles anywhere? His oft expressed sentiments and his personal record show him to be a safe, conservative and reliable business man of exceptional ability and acumen. It now seems certain that the country, under his administration as President, will prosper as never before.

There is a touch of pathos and pity contained in the accounts on the first and third pages of The Herald to-day of how an Evansville immoral house keeper murdered two of the inmates because she suspected they would get her into trouble with the law. It is contained in the single line: "She has no living relatives, she said." An outcast of society and convicted of a most heinous double crime, this creature who only a few years ago was somebody's darling baby, now finds herself alone, deserted, with not a soul to offer a helping hand. Verily, "the wages of sin is death," and with the woman it is always doubly severe.

In a letter accompanying an article offered for publication, Dr. J. N. McCormack, secretary of the State Board of Health, says: "In the report of the State Board for this year, we have been able to state that Kentucky newspapers have done more to help improve health conditions in Kentucky the past year than any other force engaged in health work." It is by such authority as this that the newspapers get the credit which they deserve. Every citizen of the State should take his county paper, not only for the real worth of it—which is always cheap at the price—but for the support of a business that is constantly accomplishing a work which Dr. McCormack so plainly outlines.

There is some talk in political circles—mostly by Bull Moose newspapers—about uniting the Taft and Roosevelt factions of the dis-integrated Republican party. One paper claims that there were no differences in the recent break-away only as regarded the personality of the two candidates. If platforms and enunciation of principles really mean anything, there is a wide difference between the two factions. There is only one way for them both to get together in a manner to command the element of political respect, and that would be for one or the other to back down from well defined principles and allegations. There could be little compromise with honor. It remains to be seen, etc.

Mr. J. L. Brown For Clerk.
Mr. J. L. Brown, of Rockport, announces in this issue of The Herald for the office of County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the General Primary to be held in Ohio county on Saturday, August 2, 1913. Mr. Brown has diplomas from Hartford College and the commercial department of the Kentucky State University, Lexington, Ky., and is thoroughly qualified for County Court Clerk. Mr. Brown is a member and secretary of the County Board of Education, in which position he has served with credit to himself and constituency. Mr. Brown is a thorough Democrat and we bespeak for him a good following throughout the county and especially in the southern part of the county.

The County Judge Race.
Mr. L. B. Tichenor, of Hartford, Route 5, county president A. S. of E., has entered the race for the Democratic nomination for County Judge of Ohio county. Mr. Tichenor is well and favorably known throughout the county, having been intimately identified with the A. S. of E. movement. He is also a member of the County Board of Education. He is well qualified for the position of Judge and would make a good one. His natural characteristics speak for his ability, and his many friends will be glad he has entered the race. He solicits the votes of his party.

Mr. W. M. Boyd For Jailer.
Elsewhere in these columns will be found the announcement of Mr. W. M. Boyd, of Centertown, for the office of Jailer of Ohio county, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the General Primary to be held in Ohio county on Saturday, August 2, 1913. Mr. Boyd is one of Ohio county's best citizens, well qualified for Jailer and is a member of a family of ten brothers, nine of whom live in Ohio county, who never scratched a Democratic nominee. We bespeak for him a good following throughout the county and especially in the eastern and western sections of the county where he is best known.

MURDER LAID TO WIDOW AND HER MALE FRIEND

The Two Were Arrested, Charged With Killing Woman's Husband.

Newport, Ky., Jan. 20.—Frank, alias "Dad" Minor, and Mrs. Freda Gill, wife of Louis Gill, who was found dead at his home on Hodge street here last Wednesday, were arrested to-day on a charge of murder.

The arrest was made on a warrant issued by Police Judge Bute after Kate Gill, a sister of the dead man, had sworn to an affidavit charging both the wife and Minor with the killing.

Minor and Mrs. Gill were located at the home of Mrs. Reuter, on West Eighth street, between Patterson and Brighton, and when the arrest was made it was said the couple were getting ready to leave town.

On the night before Gill's body was found, the man had approached persons, asking if they had seen a policeman. He said that he wanted an officer to come to his home and make Minor leave there. He was advised to go home, as he had been drinking. Later Minor, whose nose was bleeding at the time, sought the police, saying that Mrs. Gill wanted an officer to come to the house and compel her husband to leave.

The next morning Mrs. Gill reported that she had found her husband dead. Bruises were found on his chest, and Coroner Digby, after a post-mortem, found that there was a blood clot between the brain and skull on the left side of the head and that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage.

Minor is said to have served a term in the Frankfort Penitentiary several years ago in connection with an attack on a woman.

THE BELOVED PASTOR OF METHODIST CHURCH DEAD

Few events have ever occurred in Hartford that created the surprise and general grief which came at the announcement of the sudden illness—death soon following—of Rev. T. V. Joiner, pastor of the Hartford Methodist Church and of this circuit. Early Wednesday morning came the sad news that he had been stricken with paralysis at his home at the parsonage, which occasioned general sorrow, but it was hoped that this was only partial or temporary. Frequent reports from his home, however, were to the effect that he was gradually growing worse, and that he was unconscious almost from the start.

Drs. Ford, Riley and Pendleton were on hand from the beginning of his sudden illness, and all that medical skill and loving care could do, was done, but after lingering seven hours, he passed away at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. When death came, all the members of his family were present and also a number of members of his church and neighbors. It was a sad death, so sudden and unexpected, carrying away a man so universally loved and respected. He was apparently in his usual health only a few hours previously.

Few men have ever come to Hartford and won their way so quickly into the love and affections of the people as did Rev. Joiner. He was of an exceedingly genial and sociable disposition and to meet him was to feel at once the force of his tender heart and excellent character. He mixed freely and well with everybody and made himself companionable with all. It was his habit as a pastor to meet and know as many people as possible and there was no distinction in his friendships. The spirit of the Master was in him and he showed it in every relation of life. The people loved him as a pastor and they loved him as a friend, whether they belonged to another or no church at all.

Rev. Joiner was serving his second year as pastor of this circuit, having been sent here from Crescent Hill, Louisville, in the fall of 1911. He was born in Trigg county, Ky., September 26, 1854. Entered the ministry about thirty years ago and has been continuously preaching in the Louisville conference ever since. His first charge was at Livermore, McLean county. He was married September 1, 1886, to Miss Eufaula Harris, of Daviess county, and is survived by his loving companion and the following children: Eugene Harris, Mary Ray, Margaret Allen, Samuel Edward, Robert Marion, Emma Franklin and James Clinton. He had no near relatives other than his immediate family. Dr. S. J. Harris, of Philipot, Ky., a brother of Mrs. Joiner, arrived early Thursday morning and attended the funeral.

Impressive funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 by Rev. S. J. Thompson, Presiding Elder of the Owensboro district, assisted by Rev. C. F. Wimberly, of Madisonville, Rev. A. L. Mott, of Beaver Dam, Rev. R. D. Bennett, Rev. E. B. English, of the Hartford Baptist Church, and Elder W. B. Wright, of the Hartford Christian Church. After the services the remains were interred at Oakwood cemetery. Among the beautiful floral offerings was one from Hartford Tent Knights of the Macca-bees, of which Rev. Joiner was a member, one from the college faculty of Madisonville, where his daughters are employed as teachers, and one from the Hartford Methodist Sunday School.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF REV. JOINER

Read at the quarterly conference held here Saturday and Sunday and also at the Methodist Sunday School last Sunday morning:

Your committee appointed to draft a suitable tribute and resolutions on the death of our lamented pastor, the Rev. T. V. Joiner, report:

Bro. Joiner died quite suddenly at his home in Hartford, Kentucky, January 22, 1913, from apoplexy. He lived but a few hours after the first attack. He was fifty-eight years of age, and had faithfully preached the Gospel of the Christ for thirty years. In disposition he was an optimist, always looking at the sunny side of a question. He was one of those who had caught the vision and inspiration of the Higher Life and "walked and talked with God." Without being a dreamer of dreams, he made this vision of the invisible world the dominant note of his life. Without "pride of opinion" he clung with unwavering faith to the "Man of Galilee" and the "God of Revelation." In all ways he was kindly and gentle, tender and considerate of the feelings and opinions of others, yet firm and consistent in his own views and opinions.

He had the rare and wonderful faculty of discussing with others religious questions, where opinions differ, without offending those who differed from him. With a smiling face and a cheerful heart and with full knowledge of the fact, he walked for many months in the shadow of death and only he and his physicians knew it. In the great age-long, world-wide struggle for his Father's Kingdom, he fell, full armed, on the firing line and beneath the stainless banner of the Cross. He walked the highways of life a Christian gentleman in all his dealings with his fellow men. We shall miss his cheery voice, and pleasant face, his devoted christian life and wise counsels in the affairs of the church. Therefore be it Resolved, 1st. That the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has lost in the death of Bro. Joiner an able, devoted and faithful minister and pastor, a wise counselor and adviser, and one who was devoted to his Church and his charge.

2d. To his family we earnestly tender our sincerest sympathy in their bereavement and sorrow, the common heritage, but remind them that above the shadows and clouds still smiles the face of their God.

3d. That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family, to the Methodist Sunday School, The Christian Advocate, Central Methodist and the county papers for publication.

SUNDAY SHOOTING AT MIDLAND OVER A BOY.

Central City, Ky., Jan. 26.—As a result of a shooting affray to-day at Midland, a new town, seven miles west of Central City, on the Kentucky Midland Railway, Will Wiggins probably will die, while Bud and Guy Dennison have fled from the city and are being sought by the police.

The shooting followed a declaration by Wiggins that he would not permit an attack by Guy Dennison on Fred Stanley, a seventeen-year-old youth. Bud Dennison is said to have cautioned Wiggins not to interfere, and when the latter stuck by his assertion, Dennison is alleged to have drawn a revolver and fired point-blank at the man who had opposed him.

The bullet struck Wiggins in the stomach and lodged in the hip. Wiggins fell to the ground and cried for a pistol with which to defend himself. Dennison, however, flourished his weapon, according to witnesses, and warned bystanders not to take a hand in the affair. The trouble occurred at the intersection of the main street of the town and the railroad, and created much excitement.

After Wiggins, who is married and has a child, was taken to his home, citizens organized themselves and went to the home of the Dennisons to demand that they give themselves up. It was found, however, that they had departed, passing through the lowlands in the direction of Brownsville. Late to-night they had not been apprehended.

The Dennisons were located at Rander Monday, but escaped.

EARNEST APPEAL FOR THE SINNERS

Who Are Now Estranged
From the Fold.

CHRISTIAN, ARE YOU WORKING

Daily In Your Master's Vineyard, As the Lord Bade
You So To Do?

"WORK, FOR NIGHT IS COMING"

"If the Shepherd you love, you must care for the sheep;
Precious are they in His sight,
They are out in the desert, they wander alone;
Lead them from darkness to light."

In the days of old the Lord called:
"Abraham! Abraham!" and Abraham gladly answered: "Here am I!"

To-day, as of yore, Jesus is calling, nay pleading, "Christian!
Christian!" Have you answered:
"Here am I?"

We can picture in the imagination the old, old scene and almost hear the mild, reproving voice of Jesus, saying: "The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few."

Look out over your field, Christian, and remember "from over the ocean there cometh a cry," but the most agonizing appeal comes from the sinner at home.

People are persisting at your very door and yet you, my Christian friend, stand idly by, with your Sunday - morning - go - to - church clothes on and look solemn with pious dignity (?) while the sinner perishes for the want of a kind word, a smile, or a little encouragement. While you are in your church, rigged out in your best bib
and tucker, remember,

"In the highways and hedges, go seek for the lost—
Gather them into the fold,"
Was the earnest command that our Savior divine,
Taught His disciples of old.

You can't find the "highways and hedges" in the church. You must seek sin where sin lives. Urge them to come; show them the way;
tell the poor, discouraged sinner that

To the weary and thirsty, the Sav-lor has said;

"Come, heavy laden, to Me;
I will give them drink of the water of life—
Tell them the fountain is free."

Don't go about your work for the Lord with a pair of rubber gloves on. The sinners won't continue you. Jesus when on earth mingled with and had compassion on the sinners. Are you better than He? Christians, how can you betray such a kind and loving Master? Your best work is needed now, for

"Tis the wink of an eye, 'tis the draught of a breath,
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death."

"Oh, to be like the lowly Jesus," Blessed thought! The wise men coming from the East brought unto Him gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh, and paid Him homage; yet many of our latter-day Christians (?) go about the work of the Lord in a half-hearted manner, while others do not even pretend to be His servants after they once get their name on the church membership book.

"What a friend we have in Jesus!" How patiently He hears our trials and tribulations. When we are weak and discouraged, He holds out His arms to those who betray Him and says, with a welcome smile: "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Christians, the sinners are looking to you! Jesus is calling for in-borders. What will your answer be?

Wait not till, with hasty summons,
Death is passing by;
Till you must, with fear and trembling,
Answer, "Here am I."

Hear the sinner's appeal! The day is fleeting away. Darkness draws nigh, "and our feet, like muffled drums, are beating funeral marches to the grave." They are pleading for some one to lead them, listen to what they say:

"Tell me of Jesus; tell of His mercy,
Is there a fountain flowing so free?

All who are willing drink of its waters:
Say, is that fountain flowing for me?"

Remember the Lord has said:
"Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." The time is now. The place is here.
Will you answer "Here am I, Lord;
send me?" Don't wait until death's grim messenger flaps its wings over some poor erring brother. Get busy to-day, unfurl the banner of Jesus and let it wave in triumph over
"the land of the free and the home of the brave."

"Tell me the old, old story, of unseen things above;
Of Jesus and His glory, of Jesus and His love.

"Tell me the story softly, with earnest tones, and grave;
Remember I'm the sinner whom Jesus came to save.

"Tell me that same old story, when you have cause to fear That this world's empty glory is costing me too dear.

"Yes, and when this world's glory
is drawing on my soul,
Tell me the old, old story:
"Christ Jesus makes thee whole."

THE GREAT ADVANTAGES OF STATE UNIVERSITY

Which the People of Kentucky
Are Now Failing to Take Advantage Of.

Dear Herald:—I am writing this little article in order to make known to the good people of Ohio county a few of the advantages of the Kentucky State University.

We fail to see why it is that not one out of every two thousand of the State's population attend this school which you as citizens of the State have taken such pains to establish and maintain. Most of the buildings are new and well equipped. They have cost the State large sums of money. The faculty is one of the strongest in the country. Tuition is free to all graduates of Class A accredited High Schools, and the University even goes so far as to pay the railroad fare of all students remaining throughout a scholastic year. If the expenses of of K. S. U. freshman were that of a Harvard first year student, viz.:
one thousand dollars, we could easily see the cause of its comparatively small student body. But as any freshman here can get through on two hundred and fifty dollars,
the wonder still grows.

If you farmers of Ohio county want your boys to remain on the farm, let them come to State University and study the science of the soil and animal husbandry. If you want them to become engineers, either mechanical, electrical or civil, let them come to State University and get knowledge in a few years that it would take them a lifetime to learn otherwise. If you want them to become lawyers, statesmen, ministers or even the greatest of all vocations, a worthy citizen, let them come where the monuments of Clay and Breckenridge are held up before them and where an undying love for old Kentucky is instilled in their minds.

At least the four years of study will do them good and will cause them to have life and have it more abundantly. STUDENT.

ADVICE TO HOUSEWIVES BY NOTED MILLIONAIRE

James J. Hill has turned aside for a while from his great industries to give advice to housewives concerning household thrift and the expenditure of money. "The tendency of the average woman," he says, "is to buy everything as cheaply as possible. That is the worst kind of economy."

This is a new illustration of the folly of the wise when they undertake to teach something they know nothing about or to give advice to another concerning his business.
What Mr. Hill does not know about the economies of the average American housewife would fill a book. It was he who said during the discussion of the increase in prices that the problem was not one of the high cost of living but the cost of high living; being doubtless unaware that those on whom the burden of high prices presses most heavily never did any high living in their lives.

The housewife as a rule knows well enough that it is poor economy to buy coal by the basket instead of by the ton, but she cannot afford the ton. She knows that cheap shoddy is not so economical as all wool, but where come the wages that will enable her to clothe her family in wool? The American housewife hasn't the financial cleverness of James J. Hill, but she knows more about the care-taking of the home on a workman's wages than he can ever teach her.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER

Takes Druggist's Advice With Splendid Result.

If anyone should know the worth of a medicine, it is the retail druggist who sells it over his counter every day in the week, and is in a position to know what remedy gives the best satisfaction.

Mrs. Frank H. Ulline, of West Sand Lake, N. Y., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from bronchitis. Last July I had an attack which was more severe than any, and my friends thought I could not recover from it. Then I was advised by my druggist to try Vinol, which I did, with wonderful results. My cough has left me; I have gained in weight and appetite, and I am as strong as ever I was. I advise all who have bronchitis, chronic coughs, or who are run down to try Vinol."

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron that makes Vinol so efficient.

Remember, we guarantee Vinol to do just what we say—we pay back your money if it does not.

HOW INDIANS WERE CHEATED

In Allotment Of Their Various Lands.

CONDITIONS ARE OUTRAGEOUS

Federal Inspectors and Agents In League With Big Lumber Interests.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Charges of gross frauds against the Indians on the White Earth Reservation in Minnesota, that their physical and material condition is pitiful and that Maj. James McLaughlin, Indian Inspector, did not properly guard the Indians' requests in the allotment of lands, were made to the House today in a report by the Committee on Expenditures in the Interior Department.

It recommended that some remedy be found by Congress for the present "anomalous situation" by which the Commissioner of Indian Affairs has complete control over property worth $1,000,000,000 belonging to Indians, of the various tribes in the United States.

The report declares that the Chippewa and other Indians were defrauded of large sums in the sale of lands and standing timber on the White Earth reservation. A sale in 1900 the committee "finds from undisputed" authority was "fraudulent in the details of its accomplishment." The committee further charges that "fraudulent partiality" was shown by Simon Michelet, Indian allotting agent, in allotting the Indian timber under the law of 1906.

"The best and most valuable pine allotments fell into the hands of those who were intended in advance to receive them," says the report.

Investigations following these acts, the committee says, resulted in the sending out of an Indian agent, Thomas Downs, who "found the proceedings partial, unfair and unjust. Thereupon the paid agents of the lumber companies who claimed rights themselves as Indians and who would be beneficiaries of the allotment fraud, remonstrated to the Interior Department for the setting aside of the proceedings.

The report declares that Maj. James McLaughlin, the second agent sent out, refused to allow the full-blood Indians to send out runners to bring in the people; made false reports as to the number of full-bloods present, and gave no adequate notice to the Indians of the mass meeting, at which the question came up, which "in effect, was a council of lumber companies."

The action of former Commissioner Francis E. Leupp was condemned on the ground that he prevented a full statement of the Indian complaints to President Roosevelt.

"There are things in the Indian Bureau which should be investigated," declared Senator Townsend during a sharp fight in the Senate today over his resolution to have the Attorney-General investigate the affairs of the Crow Indians. Action was deferred at the end of a long debate.

They are the best medicine you can buy for kidney and bladder ailments. Sold by all dealers."

A WIFE'S ANXIETY—A TEST OF TRUE LOYALTY

Jenkins, a newly wedded suburbanite, kissed his wife good-bye the other morning, and, telling her he would be home at six o'clock that evening, got into his auto and started for town.

At six o'clock no hubby had appeared and the little wife began to get nervous. When the hour of midnight arrived she could bear the suspense no longer, so she aroused her father and sent him off to the telegraph office with six telegrams to as many brother Elks living in town, asking each if her husband was stopping with him overnight.

Morning came, and the frantic wife had received no intelligence of the missing man. As dawn appeared, a farm wagon containing a farmer and the derelict husband drove up to the house, while behind the wagon trailed the broken-down auto. Almost simultaneously came a messenger boy with an answer to one of the telegrams, followed at intervals by five others. All of them read:

"Yes, John is spending the night with me."

"LOST TRIBE" OF JEWS HAS BEEN DISCOVERED

Los Angeles, Jan. 24.—A strange Jewish colony, practicing queer customs and peculiar rites, and bearing many resemblances to a "lost tribe," has been discovered in Los Angeles, by Dr. R. Farber, rabbi of Sinai Temple.

The colonists, composed of members of about 30 families, live almost on a communistic scheme, and divide their wealth among themselves. They do not marry outside of their own number, and adhere to the strange belief that it is immoral for a man to pass the age of 20 and be unmarried.

Dr. Farber states that while the people are all Jewish, not one knows anything of the Hebrew language. They came from Russia years ago and have been living here for some time unnoticed as a colony, until discovered by Dr. Farber.

After a close study of their strange customs and modes of life, he declared them to be a "lost tribe" of Jews.

The Always-Diverting Lippincott's.

The February Lippincott's is a well-rounded, ripe, and rich magazine, full of varied fiction and papers adjusted to the season. As usual, every feature in it is complete, there being nothing continued but the entertainment, which never flags. The novel, "Miss Phoenix," is by a new writer, Albert Lee. While its theme is entirely unlike that of Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Seven Days," the reader is reminded of that now-famous story, because of its originality, humor, brisk action, tangled but quite plausible complications, and general breeziness.

The short fiction maintains the high level fixed by Lippincott's standard. "Mrs. Marden's Pilgrimage," by Elizabeth Jordan, tells of a rich elderly woman's visit to the country village where her childhood was passed. "In Pondoland," by May Edington, is a military tale of South Africa. "The Highway," by Eleanor Ingram, author of "From the Car Behind," is an automobile story of a new kind. "The Churral," by Annette Thackwell Johnson, is an East Indian story, Kiplingesque in its strength and naturalness. "Moses and the Rock," by Thomas Grant Springer, is a whimsical tale of American enterprise in "the Land of Manana." "The Widow Polichinello," by Jean Irvine, is commendable for its strength and originality. The short-story masterpiece this month is "The District Doctor," a characteristically fine story by Ivan Targenev. As usual, there is an introduction by the editor.

A calm, dispassionate treatise on "The Habitual Use of Alcohol," by one of our foremost medical scientists, Dr. Horacio C. Wood, will be found of great interest to all concerned in the great temperance movement.

"Walnuts and Wine," the humorous department, has been enlarged and bettered in other ways. Sketches, jokes, anecdotes, jingles, and light verse, by authors known and unknown, are supplied in profusion. A financial department, in which the queries of investors are answered, is conducted by Edward Sherwood Mead, before-mentioned.

RULES GOVERNING NEW PRIMARY ELECTION LAW

Changes Which Must Be Complied With To Get Name On the Ballot.

The new primary election law passed by the last Legislature made many changes in the old manner of nominating candidates for office. Candidates for county and city offices should study the law carefully in order to acquaint themselves with its provisions, because certain things must be done before a candidate's name can legally go on the ballot at the August primary election.

Hereafter all devices will be eliminated. Only the names of the candidates will appear on the ballot, and if there are voters who are unable to read, they will have a hard time finding their choice on the ballot. With the use of the devices, voters who could not read found little trouble in locating their favorites, but this has been changed by the new election law and instead of a ballot resembling a circus poster, it will contain nothing but printed matter with the names of candidates in the proper order.

One thing candidates should not overlook is preparing the nominating petitions and having the required number of legal voters' signatures. A failure in this will keep their names off the ballot. Candidates for county and city offices must file nominating petitions bearing the signatures of not less than 3 per cent. and not more than 10 per cent. of the total legal voters of the party at the last election for President.

It will be just as fatal to a candidate to secure more than 10 per cent. as less than 3 per cent. This limit of signatures was probably incorporated in the law to prevent candidates from getting out early and securing a majority of signatures, which would prevent other candidates from getting up a nominating petition.

Candidates must bear in mind that nominating papers and petitions must be filed with the County Clerk thirty days before the election and nominating petitions for signatures must not be circulated earlier than sixty days before the date of filing, which is ninety days before the election. The election will be held on Saturday, August 2, 1913. According to the provisions of the law, petitions must not be circulated for signatures before next May and June. If they are, candidates will be barred from entering the primary.

Isabelle let it fall and cut two of his fingers, one to the bone and the other nearly off. Dr. Tichenor, of Hartford, was summoned and dressed the child's hand and she is getting along nicely. Mrs. Hamilton and children left for their home in Indiana yesterday.

Fruit Growing Neglected.

Farmers in this county are sadly neglecting fruit growing, when we have just as fine a fruit country as other places from which we buy. A fruit grower from California told us a while back that we could grow such fruits as apples, peaches and berries, just as well here as they do in California. If we would attend a them—and we believe it. Mr. H. L. Bowen raised as fine apples here last year as you can buy on the market. But he sprayed and pruned his trees.—[Glasgow Republican.]

Cut the High Cost of Living.

W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." A mean, stuffy cold, with hoarse, wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Contains no opiates. Sold by all dealers. m

Mr. Billy Johnson has had mumps and is well of them but is suffering a great deal from neuralgia.

Brother Royster filled his regular appointment here the last Sunday.

There are two cases of smallpox reported in Rockport.

There has been considerable damage done by the rise here. Mr. J. Brown lost about 500 bushels of corn and some hay and his tenant house on this side of the river was washed a little from its foundation.

His son Tom sold 300 bushels of corn for 10 cents a bushel.

Ben Johnson, of color, lost his old house with some corn in it and some tobacco. Mr. Foster Roll lost nearly all he had except his stock—about 2,000 pounds of meat, a lot of corn and household goods.

PICTURE OF SUFFERING HAN'T BEEN OVERDRAWN

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 27.—The visit of the relief boat from this city to the flooded Ohio river bottoms of this county demonstrated the fact that the picture of suffering and woe had not been overdrawn.

People were found in the second stories of homes with scant clothing who had been without food for several days, had nothing but straw for a bed. One man 70 years old was in the attic of a house that had caved into the water. The river is about 15 miles wide in Walnut bottoms. Several cases of illness are reported.

Five women are expecting visits from the stork under these trying circumstances. Mayor Thompson headed an expedition to-day to the flooded district and distributed much food, clothing and medicine.

Thirty-seven people were found in one house. Many barns full of corn on both sides of the river, will, if the river rises any more, be totally lost.

$100 Per Plate

Was paid at a banquet to Henry Clay, in New Orleans in 1842. Mighty costly for those with stomach trouble or indigestion. To-day people everywhere use Dr. King's New Life Pills for these troubles as well as liver, kidney and bowel disorders. Easy, safe, sure. Only 25 cents at James H. Williams. m

Income Tax.

Thirty-four States have ratified the federal Constitutional amendment providing for the income tax. Ratification by two more States is all that is necessary for the final adoption of this great reform. There are fourteen States yet to act and there can be no doubt that out of that number there will be two whose legislatures will get into line with the great progressive movement.

The friends of Mr. Howell Tatum will be pleased to note that he has been promoted to the management of the Kentucky division of the Scranton Life Insurance Company, of Scranton, Pa.
